Look At The Moon Memoir is a powerful and moving story about one girl's journey to find herself and her place in the world. This coming-of-age memoir is full of hope, beauty, and resilience.

The book follows the author, Emily Rapp Black, as she grows up in a small town in the Midwest. Emily is a bright and curious child, but she also struggles with anxiety and depression. As she gets older, she begins to question her place in the world. She feels different from the other kids in her town, and she longs to find a place where she belongs.

Emily's journey takes her to New York City, where she studies writing and meets new people who help her to discover her own voice. She also begins to explore her spirituality, and she finds solace in the beauty of the natural world.

Look At The Moon Memoir is a beautifully written and deeply moving story about one girl's search for identity and belonging. Emily Rapp Black's writing is lyrical and evocative, and she perfectly captures the complexities of adolescence and young adulthood. This book is a must-read for anyone who has ever struggled with their own identity or who has ever longed to find a place where they belong.

Interview with Emily Rapp Black

I recently had the opportunity to interview Emily Rapp Black about her book, Look At The Moon Memoir. Here is what she had to say:

Q: What inspired you to write Look At The Moon Memoir?

A: I wrote Look At The Moon Memoir because I wanted to share my story with others who might be struggling with their own identity or who might be feeling lost in the world. I wanted to show them that they are not alone, and that it is possible to find hope and healing even in the darkest of times.

Q: What do you hope readers will take away from your book?

A: I hope that readers will take away a sense of hope and possibility from my book. I want them to know that it is possible to overcome adversity, and that they are not alone in their struggles. I also hope that my book will help readers to find their own voice and to discover their own unique path in the world.

Q: What advice would you give to other young people who are struggling with their identity or who are feeling lost?

A: My advice to other young people who are struggling with their identity or who are feeling lost is to keep searching. Don't give up on yourself, and don't be afraid to ask for help. There are people who care about you and want to help you find your way. And remember, you are not alone.
